

DISCLAIMER

The TLCSR blog/ discussion forum is designed to help people reconsider old ideas, find new information and views on ideas they have heard before to foster broader understanding of the senior care continuum and to help people decide for themselves what is useful to them in their own unique situation.

Have to scroll down to check box and accept.

I understand that any information or opinions offered here by Dr McGivney, Tender Loving Care Senior Residence (TLCSR) staff or any blog poster are partial and not complete or intended as medical or specific treatment ideas.

I understand that the ideas posted here are intended to promote new and unique perspective when considering senior care and the various senior care settings. The ideas are often noted just to show the other side of any discussion, and as such, might promote wide disagreement among readers.

I understand that these views are not intended to be political, commercial or medical but to promote thought, so that each reader can appreciate or consider multiple views and approaches to this common topic of senior care, aging and caring for an aging parent.

I understand that most of the content will not be complete, but will offer just part of the picture and thus, require confirmation and research on the part of the reader to further verify information before it becomes usable.

I understand that this web site specifically picks topics that they believe are less commonly known and as such, will require validation on the readers part.

I understand that while Dr McGivney is a medical doctor, he is only offering his opinion and stipulates that any ideas are just partial and require individuals to seek confirmation from their own panel of specialists, including but not limited to doctors, lawyers, social work professionals and others.

I understand that this is a moderated blog and that they do not guarantee to post all content but do make editorial decisions on what to post.

I understand that I am certifying that everything I add is true to the best of my knowledge and that I am who I claim to be.

I agree to abide by the rules of the blog and rules of being a good social blog member.

I understand that tlcsr does not guarantee the accuracy of any posts by tlcsr staff or blog members.

I understand that all of the material is copy righted and is not intended for dissemination or general circulation without written release from tlcsr.com.

I understand that tlcsr retains absolute control over all posts and materials after they are posted to the site and does not authorize re posting or use of content in any way. Tlcsr will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law, if this material is re used in any way without written approval. Valid written approval will include at a minimum a notarized or certified form of notification.